

TAKE YOUR PLACE IN MUNICH among Europe and America's premier Anesthesiologists, Physiatrists, Radiologists, Neurologists, Orthopedic Surgeons, and Neurosurgeons as they share the specific techniques and efficacy data that their specialties bring to bear in the management of spine pain.

PRECOURSES ADDITIONAL FEES REQUIRED

Spine Imaging and Anatomic Correlation

FRIDAY 24 MAY - TWO-HOUR SESSIONS FROM 9:00-17:00

UP TO 2.0 CME CREDITS

All Physician Members: $450

Non-Members: $875

See the structures we target and the vulnerable structures we must avoid on expertly dissected and sagittally-sectioned cadavers, and develop a greater three-dimensional understanding of the keys to success and the potential pitfalls of lumbar and cervical procedures.

SIS thanks the University of New England and Frank H. Willard, PhD for providing the cadavers used in this course.

Dissected specimens provided by and remain the property of University of New England, Anatomy Department, Biddeford, Maine, United States.

Registration is restricted to 10 attendees per 2-hour session. If you attend the 09:00 session, you may additionally register for the following:

History and Physical Examination for the Interventional Pain Physician

FRIDAY 24 MAY - 13:00-18:00

UP TO 4 CME CREDITS

All Attendees: $225

In this precourse, you will conduct cervical and lumbar physical examinations that can be incorporated into your practice. Before your hands-on training, you will explore the utility of physical exams, provocation tests, and neurological exams and view actual patient exams via video vignettes.
